SHOULD MILITARY TRAINING BE COMPULSORY IN SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES?

-Cdt. Arundhati Chandel

Military life is known for its discipline. Military training teaches obedience, punctuality, behavior, co-operation and so many other things of the discipline which are very important for each and every one throughout the life. The citizens with a disciplined motto can make the nation truly great. India needs more and more young men with such qualities, who can set up examples before the nation and can take hope and courage for the same.

In today's scenarios militarily trained persons can be utilized for civil defense as well as against external aggression. Compulsory military training helps to form a reserve force which can be of help during the times of war & natural calamities if also transforms people for good. Military training makes people humble, disciplined and matured. It instills a sense of patriotism. Compulsory military training can also

Pressure on Domestic workers during pandemic.

Date 29th Sept, 2020

-PO Cadet Chaitanya

The true measure of any society can be found in how it treats its most vulnerable members.
 -Mahatma Gandhi

There has been persistent vulnerability of domestic workers during the lockdown in the country. However, there is an inverse relationship between the status and when domestic workers have got close based relations which is quite evident in many COVID situations about the number of domestic workers employed in India is 47.5 lakh, including 20 lakh women, but this is considered as severe underestimation and the true number is far more because they come through casual workers, according to International Labour Organization website.

Domestic Workers face the brunt during Covid-19.

Many domestic workers across the country are facing double crisis coupled with income loss and they face the prospect of being thrown out of their rented accommodation due to non-payment of rent as well as, difficulties related to groceries and other essential items available on credit. Thus, they are undergoing mental trauma. As per the news published in Kashmir times, a health minister has now denied to run home for work due to the fear of transmission of the virus. Similarly, many other domestic workers have been abandoned by their employers in the hour of crisis, asking them not to come to their houses for work, instead had postpone the Month and also even bothering to pay them as April.

Several domestic workers have taken up to two weeks and uncertainty on March 25 when Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced a lockdown to fight the pandemic. Asking to this is a source of abusive employers and mental trauma due to the inability to contribute to their families for once.
