ORIENTATION PROGRAM FOR THE PARENTS AND GUARDIANS OF THE FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS

On September 10, 2022 an orientation program for the parents and guardians of the first-year students was organized. The event was graced by the presence of Smt. Satwal Atwal Trivedi, ADGP (Additional Director General of Police), who is an esteemed alumna of the college. As the chief guest, Smt. Satwal Atwal Trivedi delivered a powerful address that inspired and motivated the students. She emphasized the importance of bravery and encouraged the students to become fearless individuals capable of overcoming any obstacles they may encounter in life. Her words resonated deeply with the audience, instilling a sense of confidence and determination in the students.

In addition to inspiring individual bravery, Smt. Satwal Atwal Trivedi also emphasized the significance of community and staying connected. She highlighted the importance of maintaining strong relationships with fellow students and the college community, fostering a sense of unity and support. Her message encouraged the students to collaborate and help one another, creating a conducive environment for growth and success.

The presence of Smt. Satwal Atwal Trivedi, an esteemed alumna and an accomplished professional in the field of law enforcement, served as a source of inspiration and pride for the college. Her achievements and success exemplified the potential of St. Bede's College in shaping individuals who can make significant contributions to society.

The orientation program not only marked the formal induction of the new Student Council but also provided an opportunity for the parents and guardians of first-year students to become acquainted with the college's environment and ethos. The event showcased the college's commitment to holistic education and the development of well-rounded individuals.

STUDENT ORIENTATION

On September 15, 2023, an orientation program was organized by the Department of Microbiology and Biotechnology for the first-year B.Sc. (Hons) Microbiology and B.Sc. Biotechnology students. The program aimed to promote a strong connection between the students and faculty members and provide essential information regarding the academic aspects of their courses. Students were acquainted with the institute's rules and regulations, and the program emphasized the monitoring of their academic progress and performance. By bridging the gap between students and faculty, the orientation program successfully equipped the students with valuable knowledge to navigate the resources effectively.

ORIENTATION PROGRAM

The Economics Department's faculty, sophomore and final year students organised a remarkable orientation programme for the newly admitted economics students on 15th September 2022. The event was made even more special by the presence of the esteemed Ms. Maheema Dutt, an alumna of our college, who graced the occasion as the main celebrant. The programme was designed with the primary objective of familiarising the freshers with various academic aspects such as the curriculum, premises, course, rules and regulations of the institute. It also aimed to encourage active participation of the students, create a healthy relationship between the students and faculties, and educate the students about the college culture and the code of conduct. Additionally, the programme was focused on preparing the students for their career goals and providing them with essential tips on how to achieve them. The third-year students took the initiative of presenting a PowerPoint presentation that brilliantly put together all the above-mentioned objectives in a comprehensive manner. Ms. Maheema Dutt also gave a remarkable presentation that emphasised the importance of economics and how it can be applied in our day-to-day lives. She highlighted the significance of active participation in college activities, citing it as the reason behind her success and edge over others.

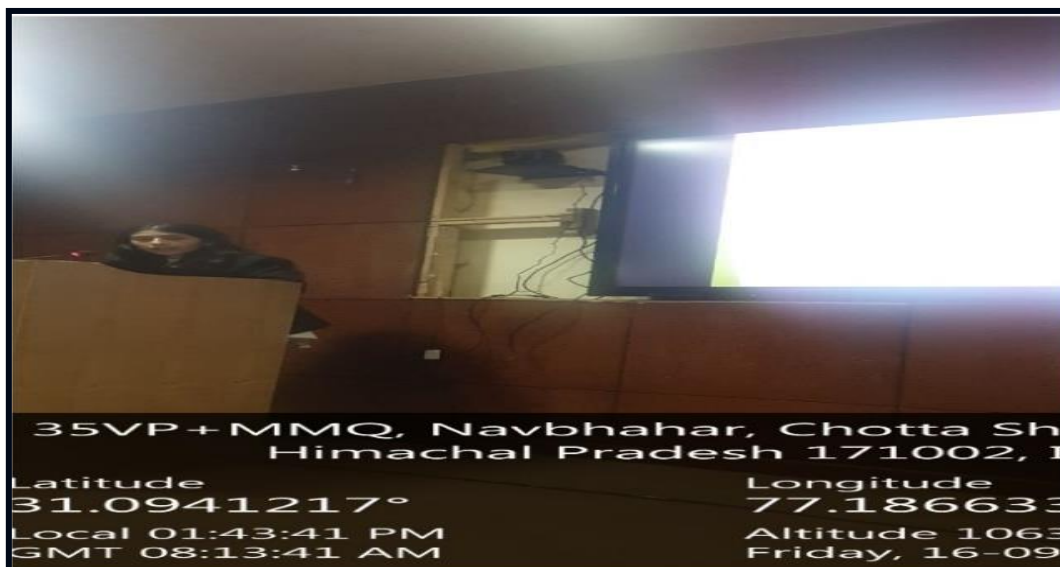

The orientation programme was a huge success, with the freshers exhibiting great enthusiasm and interest in the curriculum and college culture. The seniors and faculty members warmly welcomed the students and offered valuable insights and advice that would help them navigate their way through college life successfully. The interactive session helped the students break the ice and form meaningful connections, leading to a sense of inclusivity and camaraderie. In conclusion, the orientation programme organised by the Economics Department was a remarkable initiative that provided the freshers with essential insights and guidance. Ms. Maheema Dutt's presentation was a valuable addition that helped the students understand the practical application of economics. Overall, the programme helped bridge the gap between the seniors and the freshers, promoting a sense of belonging and togetherness in the college community.

ORIENTATION PROGRAM

The Department of History organized an Orientation Program on September 16, 2022, in the seminar room, with the purpose of welcoming and assisting the first-year students at the beginning of their three-year degree course. The program featured a presentation by Anjali Verma, a third-year BA student, who provided information about the department's various activities, including the Heritage Club "Miraasa." The presence of teachers and senior students facilitated interaction between the new students and experienced members of the department. Ms. Punam Chauhan explained the course structure and introduced the different papers that will be taught throughout the three-year program. The session also allowed the students to ask questions, which were promptly addressed to ensure clarity and understanding.
